

Iron County Register

BY ELI D. AKE.

IRONTON, MISSOURI.

NEWS AND NOTES.

A Summary of Important Events.

FURTHER arrests have been made of would-be settlers in the Indian Territory.

It is reported that anarchy reigns in Cabul and that the Ameer has been murdered.

The total registration of New York City this year is 216,974, an increase of nearly 30,000 since 1876.

The plan of mediation submitted by the United States has been formally accepted by the South American belligerents.

It was reported on the 8th at Del Norte, Colo., that young Jackson, who was captured by the Indians, had met his death at the stake.

It is said that England and France will soon take decided action in case the Porte does not carry out its promise to surrender Dulugio.

HEALY, secretary to Parnell and member of the Land League, was arrested at Bantry on the 26th, at the instance of the Attorney-General, on a charge of libeling a landlord in one of his speeches. Other arrests are to follow.

FULL and official returns from the October election in Indiana show the total vote to be 470,738, of which Porter received 231,405, and Landers 224,452; Porter's plurality, 6,938. Hawn, for State Secretary, 229,553; Shanklin, 224,619; Hawn's plurality, 5,134. Grigg, Greenback candidate for Governor, received 14,881 votes.

JUDGE LINDLEY, of the St. Louis Circuit Court, on the 26th, rendered a decision in the case of Richard Gray and others against Capt. William F. Davidson, President of the Keokuk Northern Packet Line, and others, vacating the positions of the present officers of the company and appointing a receiver to take charge of its affairs.

MR. LEWIS SWIFT, the Rochester astronomer, says the new comet recently discovered by him promises to be one of the most remarkable ones which have recently been seen in this country. Its great size, its slow rate of motion, and the fact that its movement is nearly in a direct line toward the earth, all combine to produce this result.

THE Vandalia and Illinois Central Railroads, being dissatisfied with the terms of the agreement made between the Wabash, Chicago and Alton and other roads interested, by which passenger rates were restored, announce that they will sell tickets between St. Louis and Chicago for $5 until all unlimited tickets sold during the struggle are redeemed.

A SPECIAL from Richmond, Va., to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, 27th, says that the Republican National Committee had sent properly accredited agents to that State, urging Republican voters to support the Readjuster National ticket and also their Congressional ticket in all districts except Norfolk and Petersburg, where the Republican candidates are thought to have a chance of being elected.

THE great Western railway passenger war terminated on the 23d by an agreement between the rival lines as to the future division of traffic, and former rates were immediately restored. It is understood that all the roads interested are to share pro rata the expenses of the fight, and tickets sold at the cut rate by either road will be received in exchange for tickets by any other road, subject to redemption by the company issuing the same.

KENWARD PHILIP, one of the editors of the New York Truth, was arrested on the 27th in Brooklyn, upon a warrant issued by Judge Noah Davis, of the Supreme Court, charged with having published a criminal libel on James A. Garfield, said alleged libel being the celebrated Morey letter in reference to the Chinese. Gen. Roger A. Pryor, of counsel for defendant, waived an examination on behalf of his client, and demanded an early trial. The examination was adjourned until the following day, Philip giving $5,000 bail for his appearance.

ALBERT TALBOTT, a son of the late Dr. P. H. Talbott, of Marysville, Mo., has been arrested, charged with the murder of his father, who was shot and killed by an unknown assassin while sitting in his own house on the night of September 16. Mr. Talbott, wife of the murdered man, Ed. Talbott, another son, and a hired man named Wyeth, have been arrested as accomplices. A detective, in the disguise of a farm laborer, working upon an adjacent farm, became intimate with the Talbott boys, and claims to have secured indubitable proof that Dr. Talbott was assassinated by members of his own family.

CONSIDERABLE political excitement was created at New Orleans by the arrest, on the 27th, under United States process, of Charles Cavanaugh, State Supervisor of Registration, and his clerks, upon the charge of illegally registering voters. Acting under the orders of Governor Wiltz after legal advice, Supervisor Cavanaugh decided to keep the registration office open until October 30. The Republicans contend that the registration books should under the law be closed ten days prior to election. The parties were brought before United States Commissioner Lane and before the United States Court. The work of registration was meanwhile continued.

An important arrest of counterfeiters has just been made by the United States Secret Service Department. William E. Brockway, said to be the most accomplished forger in America, William H. Smythe, an expert engraver, and Jasper Owens, a printer, were arrested in New York City, and James B. Doyle was captured in Chicago. The latter had in his possession $394,000 in forged United States bonds, besides a large amount of National bank note currency. His departure from New York was telegraphed to the officers in Chicago, who pounced upon him as he left the train. Smythe, the engraver, is the man who made the plates for the genuine notes and bonds issued by the Government, and the counterfeiters are said to be almost perfect imitations of the genuine.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

St. Louis will give President Hayes a reception upon his return from the Pacific coast.

THE Balcom House at Denver burned on the 25th. Loss about $50,000.

FRANK ALLISON, a merchant of Woodlawn, Carroll County, Va., suspected the identity of his wife, whom he learned was very intimate with his partner, a young man named Hawks, during his absence from home on business trips, which occurred frequently. A few days since Allison bade his wife good-by, announcing his intention of making a trip of several days' duration. Instead of doing so he secreted himself in the woods not far from home, and at night returned to his house and suddenly broke in upon the guilty couple, his worst fears being realized. Drawing his revolver he shot Hawks three times, killing him on the spot, and then shot his wife twice, wounding her mortally. He then went and surrendered himself to the officers. Allison is a man of middle age and his wife considerably younger. All were of high social standing.

THE dead body of Michael Hendricks, said to be a nephew of Gov. Hendricks of Indiana, was recently found along the road near Leadville, Colo. A bullet hole through the head gave evidence of the cause of his death. Young Hendricks was implicated in the shooting of a man named James McCallum, recently, but upon examination established his innocence and was acquitted. McCallum's brothers, however, threatened to kill him for his part in the affair, and as they have since left the country, it is supposed they carried their threat into execution.

THE business portion of the village of Augusta, Wis., has been burned.

ROBERT S. JOHNSON, for twenty-five years editor of the Michigan Farmer, and widely known throughout the State, died suddenly at his home in Detroit a few days ago.

RICHARD P. BUEL, formerly editor of a newspaper at Gainesville, Ark., but who had assumed the role of a private detective on the lookout for some criminal in the neighborhood of Fort Worth, Texas, was recently murdered by some party unknown. The Post-office Department has issued an order forbidding the payment of postal money-orders and delivery of registered letters to R. C. Wintersmiller, Louisville, Ky., or A. W. Harris & Co., New York agents or representatives of the Frankfort School Fund Lottery.

PROF. WOODWARD, of Washington University, has been appointed to supervise the taking of the new census in St. Louis.

THE Woodin Hotel at Stillwater, Mich., burned on the 25th. The proprietor is a widow, whose five-year-old son perished in the flames. She is insane with grief.

A ROW between cow-boys and soldiers occurred in a low dive at Camp Sheridan, Neb., in which two of the cow-boys were killed and one soldier was shot in the leg. It was thought he would die.

THE Ansonia Watch and Clock Works, in Brooklyn, N. Y., burned on the morning of the 27th. Loss about $1,000,000; insurance about $400,000. The works were the most extensive of the kind in this country, if not in the world, employing some 1,200 hands. The fire is supposed to have been caused by a gas explosion.

SARAH BERNHARDT, the famous French actress, has arrived in New York.

E. D. MANSFIELD, a veteran newspaper writer, died at his home near Morrow, O., on the 27th.

BISHOP D. S. DAGGETT, of the M. E. Church, died at Richmond, Va., on the 27th.

WENDELL PHILLIPS received the Greenback nomination for Congress in the Fourth Massachusetts District.

At West Albany, Wash. County, Minn., Robert Love shot and instantly killed his wife and infant child, and afterward blew his own brains out. Domestic trouble was the cause of the tragedy.

LATE NEWS ITEMS.

THE examination of Kenward Philip, of the New York Truth, charged with criminal libel in connection with the publication of the alleged Garfield letter, began on the 28th. Mr. Hart, proprietor of the Truth, produced the original of the alleged letter written by Garfield from which the printed copies were photographed. A number of witnesses on behalf of the prosecution swore that in their opinion the handwriting in the letter in question was not Garfield's, and one witness gave his opinion that the handwriting more closely resembled Philip's than it did Garfield's. The examination was continued until next day.

A PORTLAND (Me.) dispatch of the 28th said that Neal Dow, Prohibition candidate for President, had publicly announced his intention of supporting Garfield for President.

In the United States District Court at Denver, on the 28th, Judge Hallet refused to comply with the petition requesting that Agent Berry be turned over to the State authorities. Berry had not arrived at Denver at that date.

On October 28 the arrivals of grain at New York were the largest ever received at that port, amounting to 1,600,000 bushels, including 677,000 bushels of wheat and 782,000 bushels of corn.

THE official canvass of the vote in Ohio at the October election gives McMillan (Rep.) for Judge of Supreme Court, 304,045; Follett (Dem.), 240,998; Landon (Greenb.), 6,859; Ross (Prohib.), 2,838. Total vote, 714,700. Republican plurality, 23,047. Townsend's majority over Lang for Secretary of State was 19,005.

A NUMBER of the $1,000 coupon bonds found in the possession of J. B. Doyle when arrested in Chicago have been examined by officers of the secret service and by experts in the Loan Division of the Treasury Department at Washington, who pronounce them remarkably good counterfeits. No one but an expert, they say, would be likely to detect their spurious character.

MICHAEL O'HEARN, a man of considerable wealth, who resided at Pittsfield, Miss., stabbed his wife to death and then committed suicide. O'Hearn and his wife lived unhappily. He was addicted to drink, and when under its influence he was exceedingly cruel and brutal.

CHARLES THROOP and Henry Munn, painters, at work upon the Public Library Building in Cincinnati, on the 28th, by the breaking of a hook that sustained their scaffolding were precipitated to the pavement, a distance of 80 feet, and both were instantly killed.

Mrs. LINCOLN, widow of the late President Lincoln, who has just returned from abroad, on the 28th was lying dangerously ill in New York City.

OCCURRENCES OF INTEREST.

Roasted to Death.

CINCINNATI, October 20. A FIRE resulting in the loss of five lives occurred about eleven o'clock to-day in the shoddy-factory of Benjamin May, corner of Second and Broadway. The fire caught from a gas lamp falling upon the fuel, and before the engines could be brought to the spot the whole building, owing to the inflammable character of its contents, was in flames. Twenty girls and women, under the supervision of Mary Fourn, the forewoman of the sorting department, were at work in the sorting and storage rooms on the third floor. These women knew nothing of the presence of the fire until one of them saw smoke coming through the cracks in the floors. She at once called "Fire!" and started for the staircase in the storage-room. Most of the women at this time were in the storage-room, only eight then being in the sorting-room. The forewoman ran to the door between the two rooms and told them the building was on fire, and to hurry out. Two of the girls immediately followed her, but the other six, anxious to save their clothing, stopped to take off their working dresses and put on those they were going to and from work. The consequence was when they returned to go down the staircase in the storage-room, they found the flames had taken them off in that direction. Then turning toward the drying-room, all there was found to be in flames. Their only chance was the windows. Only two of the girls reached the street alive, two, afterward identified as Mrs. Rachel Dodge and Mrs. Catherine Jackson, were suffocated by the smoke, and fell almost at the threshold of the door through which they had in vain endeavored to escape. Two others, Miss Margaret Welsh and Miss Mary Lyons, reached safety. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons reached alive. No sooner were their agonized faces seen at the window than a cry of horror went up from the thousands attracted to the vicinity by the fire. A great crowd of citizens hastily rolled under the window a number of bales of rags, and called upon the women to jump. Mrs. Barrack, after turning her head and looking back at the flames rapidly increasing in volume, stepped upon the window-sill and leaped down into the street, but more than ten feet from the window which Mrs. Eliza Barack and Mrs. Mary Lyons